The Door County Home Builders Association (DCHBA) is offering the following non-traditional/adult returning student education award for 2022:

One (1) $1,000 education award to be awarded to a non-traditional student residing in Door County, WI pursuing a secondary education in the home building industry or related field (carpentry, HVAC, electrical, masonry, flooring, architecture etc.) at a trade school technical college or accredited university.

The following qualifications must be met in order to be considered.

The applicant must:

- be a legal resident of Door County, WI
- have graduated from high school or received a GED prior to 2019
- be pursuing an educational program at a trade school, technical college, or accredited university, which in the opinion of the Award Committee, is related to the home construction industry or related field (carpentry, HVAC, electrical, masonry, flooring, architecture etc.)

Additional information

- The one-time award will be paid directly to the technical school or university at the beginning of the second semester of the 2022-2023 academic year. Proof of enrollment will be required (tuition bill).
- The completed application and personal statement of academic and career goals and commitment to community must be received by the DCHBA by 5PM CT. May 1, 2022.
- Applications will be evaluated by the DCHBA education award committee.
- The winner will be acknowledged at a future DCHBA General Membership meeting.
- The award will be based on academic achievement/potential, character, community involvement, and career goals.

Please submit the completed application and personal statement by May 1, 2022 to:
